Strayer et al. Rist [10], refers to this same point in his book Plotinus: the road to reality when he writes about "the inadequate language of vision", that Plotinus "frequently employs", because what Plotinus wants to express when he speaks of "visions" is rather an "intuitive knowledge" reached by the soul, a being surrendered by "the always present One".
Looking for a kid's book I read in the s, about a few kids maybe two were brother and sister or brothers whose uncle came to visit in his hot air balloon and the kids were messing around and accidentally undid the ropes tethering the balloon while they were in the basket and went on an adventure before they managed to bring the balloon back down to the ground.
